To Whom It May Concern:

This is a letter of recommendation for Sam Trejo, the Owner of Xcentech Computers. Sam has been the exclusive computer "guru" for this company for the past 7 years.

For as long as Sam has been in charge of our computer needs, we have enjoyed immediate response time during particularly stressful times of the year. Sam was instrumental in solving our recent web site dilemma involving pirating of our web site address. I cannot say enough about his skills or about my satisfaction with his performance. I personally attribute our continued success in being able to provide up to date information to the Owner of our company and its affiliates to Sam's abilities as a genius computer consultant. I have found him to be an individual that possesses a caring attitude towards our computer challenges and an eagerness to learn when faced with a problem he has never encountered. He also seeks perfection towards obtaining the finished product. He has demonstrated considerable ability when asked to produce changes in our complex data needs with short notice, as well as the ability to work cooperatively and respectfully with my coworkers and clients.

I heartily support and recommend Sam Trejo and Xcentech Computers without hesitation. Sam brings with him not only excellent computer knowledge, but also personal qualities that make for an enjoyable time whenever he visits our company.
